Fund description

The fund pursues long-term capital appreciation by taking a "whole-market" approach to U.S. stocks and investing in a diversified portfolio of companies from the Russell 3000® Index. Through a fundamentally based, bottom-up, systematic approach, it seeks to remove subjective and emotional influences from the stock-selection process.

Highlights

- The domestic market favored small-cap stocks over mid and large stocks
- Favorable stock selection and overweighting companies with strong returns over the past year, positive analyst conviction and flat or improving earnings to price contributed the most to outperformance
- Fund ended the quarter roughly sector-neutral to benchmark

Looking back

To start the last stanza of 2023, U.S. equities slid for the third consecutive month as expectations of persistently high interest rates continued to weigh on market sentiment. Markets rallied over the balance of the quarter, however, as the U.S. Federal Reserve signaled an end to rate hikes alongside an increased probability of rate cuts in 2024. Nearly all segments of the U.S. equity market delivered strong returns for the fourth quarter, with higher-risk and growth-oriented segments outperforming. The broad market Russell 3000 Index jumped 12.07% for the quarter, led by smaller-cap stocks. The small-cap Russell 2000 surged 14.03% for the period, outperforming the Russell Midcap (+12.82%) and mega-cap Russell Top 200 (+11.70%) indexes. The Russell 3000 Growth Index (+14.09%) outpaced the Russell 3000 Value Index (+9.83%) during the quarter.

Performance

Federated Hermes MDT All Cap Core Fund (Institutional Shares) returned 13.14% in the fourth quarter of 2023, outperforming the 12.07% return of its benchmark, the Russell 3000 Index.

Performance contributors

How we are positioned

The fund ended the fourth quarter roughly sector-neutral to the benchmark, as intended by our multi-layered risk management. Within the sectors there was an overweight position of the Consumer Services industry. There was an underweight position of the Banks industry. At the end of the period, the fund was slightly overweight growth stocks.

A word about risk

Mutual funds are subject to risks and fluctuate in value.

The quantitative models and analysis used by the fund may perform differently than expected and negatively affect fund performance.

Definitions

Alpha shows how much or how little return is generated, given the risk a portfolio takes. A portfolio with an alpha greater than 0 has earned more than expected given its beta—meaning the portfolio has generated excess return without increasing risk. A portfolio with a negative alpha is producing a lower return than would be expected given its risk.

Beta measures a portfolio's volatility relative to the market. A beta greater than 1.00 suggests the portfolio has historically been more volatile than the market as measured by the fund's benchmark. A beta less than 1.00 suggests the portfolio has historically had less volatility relative to the market.

Correlation is the degree to which one variable (here, the fund's returns) fluctuates relative to another (the returns of the fund's benchmark). Correlation ranges from 1.00, when two variables move identically in the same direction, to -1.00, when two variables move identically in the opposite direction.

R-squared indicates what percentage of a portfolio's movement in performance is explained by movement in performance of the market. R-squared ranges from 0 to 100, and a score of 100 suggests that all movements of a portfolio's performance are completely explained by movements in the market as measured by the fund's benchmark.

Sharpe ratio is calculated by dividing a fund's annualized excess return by the fund's annualized standard deviation. The higher the Sharpe ratio, the better the fund's historical risk adjusted performance.

Standard deviation is a historical measure of the variability of returns relative to the average annual return. A higher number indicates higher overall volatility.

Tracking error is the difference between a portfolio's returns and the benchmark or index it was meant to mimic or beat.

Up capture ratio/down capture ratio is a measure of how well a manager was able to replicate or improve on periods of positive benchmark returns and how badly the manager was affected by periods of negative benchmark returns. The up-market capture ratio is a measure of a manager's performance in up markets relative to the index during the same period. For example, a ratio value of 115 indicates that the manager has outperformed the market index by 15% in periods when the index has risen. The down-market capture ratio is the direct opposite of the up-market capture ratio, gauging performance of the manager relative to the index in down markets. A ratio value of 80 would indicate the manager had declined on 80% as much as the declining overall market, indicating relative outperformance.

Weighted median P/E (LTM—latest 12 months) is a ratio comparing share price to earnings per share using data from the previous 12 months.

Weighted median P/E (NTM—next 12 months) is a ratio comparing share price to earnings-per-share using estimated data for the next 12 months.

Weighted median market cap is the calculation representing the median market capitalization of the stocks in the portfolio, weighted by the amount of each stock.

Weighted median price/book is a ratio comparing share price to book value or assets minus liabilities.
