Management's Discussion of Fund Performance

The following discussion compares the performance of the Fund to the Bloomberg 1-5 Year US Government/Credit Index (the "Index") to show how the Fund's performance compares to the returns of similar investments for the reporting period. See the Average Annual Total Returns table below for the returns of the Fund and related indexes, including the Bloomberg US Aggregate Bond Index, which represents the overall U.S. fixed-income market. The Fund seeks to provide total return which consists of two components: (1) changes in the market value of its portfolio of securities (both realized and unrealized appreciation); and (2) income received from its portfolio of securities.

Top Contributors to Performance

- Sector allocation contributed to relative performance as the Fund had exposure to trade finance, emerging markets, mortgage-backed and asset-backed securities and was overweight corporate exposure compared to the Index.
- Security selection of corporate bonds, particularly in consumer-facing, capital goods, energy and transportation industries benefited relative performance.

Top Detractors from Performance

- Yield curve positioning was detrimental as the Fund's exposure to longer duration bonds detracted from performance as shorter-maturity interest rates fell more than did longer ones.
- Though the Fund's duration was on average neutral to the Index over the period, active positioning on either side of neutral in a period of substantial volatility in rates led to a very slight detraction from performance.

Fund Performance

Keep in mind that the Fund’s past performance is not a good predictor of how the Fund will perform in the future. The graph and table do not reflect the deduction of taxes that a shareholder would pay on fund distributions or redemption of fund shares.
